Through its Homeownership Assistance Center, Valley provides first time homebuyer counseling and education, down payment and closing costs assistance, post-purchase education, foreclosure prevention services, and marketing of affordable home resales. Valley Community Development's Small Business Development Program provides a range of free services to meet the needs of low- and moderate-income individuals engaged in start-up and existing small businesses. Services include business plan development, cash flow analysis, credit counseling, financial literacy, marketing, and access to community loan funds. Individual counseling and educational workshops and seminars are offered.

Community Engagement

Valley engages its constituency, particularly tenants and other program participants in various community activities and leadership development initiatives, such as advocacy for affordable housing, assistance in determining affordable housing needs and development, and neighborhood improvement.

Strategic Directions, Opportunities and Challenges

Valley Community Development has been operating under a five-year strategic plan (FY 2016-FY2020) and has recently voted to extend it, with modifications for an additional year during this transition. Over the next few years, Valley would like to expand its community impact. With growing income inequality in the region, the development of affordable housing continues to be a major focus of Valley Community Development's programmatic priorities. Valley currently has over 150 units of affordable housing currently in the pipeline for development and plans to develop and maintain a pipeline of 200 units of affordable housing in the next three years, with a focus on affordable rental housing. In 2020, Valley plans to expand its housing development capacity through partnering with housing consultant services. The organization also will consider developing future properties on its own without a larger partner which will provide Valley with access to the full developer fees and create more flexibility regarding the size of new projects.

Valley plans to serve about 350 first time homebuyers and existing homeowners each year. Additionally, Valley hopes to increase its small business development staff capacity and offer services to as many as 80 small businesses annually. Additionally, Valley plans to expand its ongoing initiative to increase the engagement of its constituency with the mission, programmatic, and advocacy work of Valley Community Development. Through the leadership of its Community Engagement Committee, the organization will increase its efforts to develop and engage new and emerging leaders within its constituency to initiate and implement new advocacy initiatives.

Increasing its visibility in Western Massachusetts through social media and other communication strategies will continue to be a focus for Valley Community Development as well as expanding its fundraising capacity over the next few years.

The Board is committed to continue its work to be more inclusive and expand the racial and economic diversity of its composition to better reflect the diversity of the communities it serves. As part of this initiative, the Board and staff will continue to engage in trainings and discussions about racial and economic equity, inclusion, and power dynamics; evaluate its policies and practices in alignment with this learning; and make changes where needed to increase equitable organizational practices.
