Community Development Corporation
& Quaboag Valley Business Assistance Corporation

Community Investment Plan 2019, Executive Summary

The Quaboag Valley Community Development Corporation (QV CDC) represents fifteen (15) communities in a 400 square mile rural region in west-central Massachusetts. These towns, located between the cities of Worcester and Springfield, include more than 20 densely populated former mill villages surrounded by rural areas and developing commuter neighborhoods. Barriers to living wage employment for low-to-moderate income (LMI) residents have been the lack of access to higher education within the region, lack of skills needed for jobs within the region, and the lack of affordable transportation to employment opportunities within and outside the region.

The organization was founded in 1995, to provide loans to small businesses and microenterprises that cannot access equivalent financing. More than $ 4 Million has been loaned to support economic growth and create jobs. Community Development Financial Institution (CDFI) certification was achieved in 2014 providing additional opportunities for increasing loan capital. Business Development services are provided to emerging and existing businesses with the goal of helping business Start, Stabilize and Grow.
